Grand Opening

Como Dice el Dicho Restaurant opened in Manchester!

Purely authentic Mexican food is something that is not always available in New England, Manuel Negreros said, but he and his co-owners are doing their best to make Mexican cuisine as genuine as possible with their new restaurant Como Dice El Dicho on Middle Turnpike West.

"None of the restaurants in the Northeast are going to be authentic Mexican restaurants," he said. "That's because of the ingredients. You're not going to get any fresh produce and ingredients as you would if you could get them from right across the border. It's a big process. It's going to take a week or two to get things here."

As with any new restaurant, there has been a learning curve, as the three get settled in.

Did You Know?

Fraud Prevention (synonym: Vigilance)

Who would have predicted fraud, scams, and schemes designed to steal your money and identify would have become such a large part of our society. Across the board everyone has been forced to learn about spoofing, phishing, vishing, skimming, malware, spyware, and ransomware to better protect themselves from being victimized. A billion-dollar industry and growing, fraudsters have forced everyone to become anti-fraud professionals and stay abreast of the latest schemes in order to avoid falling prey to their schemes. As perpetrators improve their tactics, strategies like looking for misspellings in emails are becoming ineffective. Bottom line – the fake emails today look good and appear legitimate.

One such example I received multiple times is an email purportedly from Eversource alerting me my account was delinquent, and to avoid having service suspended, I needed to call the number listed in the email. The email looked authentic. The account number on the notice was not mine, but I called the number anyway. The menu options matched the ones legitimately used by Eversource. I suspect the difference was a fraudster standing by to steal regardless of the option I selected. The fraudster stayed on the phone with me for a few moments and then hung up. Each time I received this email I also received a phone call a few days later from someone stating to be from Eversource. The first thing they asked was if I received the shut-off email a few days earlier. It is all a scam to get unsuspecting Eversource customers to send the fraudsters money. When in doubt, find your monthly bill and only call the number included on the invoice.

Most advice directs users to simply delete spam emails. In the next article I will highlight why you may want to pay attention to spam emails (but don't click on anything within them) before simply deleting them.
